Wells

DEDICATION

In appreciation for her helpfulness, kindness and thoughtful guidance, we, the seniors, wish to dedicate this 1954 Annual to Mrs. Mary Wells, Sponsor of the Senior Class. Although she has been our sponsor for only two years, she has helped in many ways. We want to thank her in this small way for her helpfulness.

PROPHECY

The class of '55 deciding to have a class reunion in Linden, after 20 years, came back to meet some of the class of '54. Since state highway 43 and US 231 had bypassed Linden, which wasn't on the map any more, we found it almost a ghost town. Jim West, leaning his head back and yawning as if bored, saw a metropolis a few miles to the east. All of us were very curious because when we were here last, only Kirkpatrick was over in that direction. Junior Waltz suggested that we all get in a car and go to see if any of the class of '54 were to be found.

On our way into the city, Joe Guinn noticed that we were entering Kirkpatrick. Patty screamed, "Today a circus is in town. Larry Payton's, and Mary Ruch is the star aerialist." None of us had seen Mary since she graduated from school. We thought she would know where we could find the members of the class of '54.

When we arrived at the circus grounds, everyone searched for the tent of the star. Walking along, Jim Eutsler tripped over a rope, causing his head to tear a big hole in the tent. The rest of us heard a scream from inside, then a laugh. Donna said, "I know that laugh. It's Mary."

Mary came out, looking as young and beautiful as she did back in high school. After talking to us a few minutes, she said that she was very much surprised to find Martin Padgett Mayor and Sheriff of this great metropolis. She said he attributed his success to his coming to Linden to finish his Senior year. Mary told Carolyn that Martha Hudson's shorthand had gotten her a job as Martin's private secretary, and that she took care of all his political and charity campaigns. It was getting near lunch time and we had to be going.

Jerry McBee told us to look for a filling station because he was low on gas. As we pulled into a Shell station, who should come to wait on us but Jerry Forrest. We commented on the fact that he had followed in the footsteps of his father, when Jerry broke in and said, "Hardly, I now have my own Shell bulk plant a few miles out of town. Oil has been found on the old Kahle place, and I bought the farm from Mrs. Dunkle at a low price, cutting Jerry Kahle in if he promised not to tell anyone of the findings." With his part of the cut, Jerry now was part owner in the Donnelly plant where he had worked after graduation. Donna asked if Jerry K. had ever married. Jerry said that after she (Donna) had jilted him, he had never married.

We waved good-bye to Jerry Forrest and went on our way into town. Up ahead Jim Eutsler saw a big sign "Clement's International Harvester Sales and Service." Since Jim and Bill had always been good friends, he asked us if we would stop. Bill said that his Senior agriculture had given him the basis for his knowledge of equipment. He, also, said that with everything else speeded up today he had put a step-up on all of his tractors.

After lunch we all wanted to see the revolutionary new 1974 Fords, which we had heard could do everything but talk. On our way into the showroom Joe noticed a big plaque "Allen Leroy Lyon, President of Kirkpatrick Ford Division." Junior asked one of the salesmen where he could get in to see Mr. Lyon. The salesman sent us up to the top floor where, seated in a big easy chair, smoking a big black cigar, and dictating to seven (7) secretaries, was Mr. Allen Leroy Lyon. He dismissed his secretaries and told us to come right in. Jim West asked him how he rated. Allen said, "It's just initiative, aggressiveness, and work." Speaking of initiative, the former Phyllis Johnson, now Dr., or Mrs. Joe Storms, really has climbed into a high position. She had gone only through 2 years of nurses' training when Joe convinced her that she should marry him. Phyllis planned to quit training but Joe persuaded her to go on and finish. She did so well, inspired by Joe, that she was awarded a scholarship to become a doctor. Now she is one of the leading women doctors in North America.

Speaking of outstanding women, the former Beverly Royer now has a chain of Square Corner Hardware stores all over the Midwest. A year or so after she had graduated, Beverly and Jerry Forrest were married. They now have 10 children. It seemed to us Bev and Jerry had made up for the rest of the class. About then, the telephone rang and Allen said after he hung up, that Joyce Vail, now Mrs. Ted Cummings, had taken over the telephone office and was doing a good job.

When we left Allen, we felt that the female section of the class of '54 had done very well, especially Beverly. As we were walking down the street surveying the town, Jim W. noticed a sign "Vail Locker Plant". We stood outside wondering if Joyce, also, was running this establishment. While standing there, who should come out to paint a sign on the window but Don Krise. Jerry asked him what he thought he was doing. Don said that he was working as meat cutter for Harlan Vail. This solved the mystery of who owned the store. After having met all the members of '54, or heard how successful they were, we headed back to our own destinations.

I, Mary Ruch, do hereby will and bequeath to Carolyn Snouwaert my ability to talk slowly and be calm and collected in time of excitement.

I, Allen Lyon, do hereby will and bequeath to Junior Waltz my ability to get a car of my own.

I, Bill Clements, do hereby will and bequeath to Patty Guard my good looks and long legs so she can get Junior back.

I, Beverly Royer, do hereby will and bequeath to Jim West a pair of padded heel-plates so he won't disrupt classes when he walks down the hall.

I, Joyce Vail, do hereby will and bequeath to Jim Eustler my gift of gab and my height.

I, Martha Hudson, do hereby will and bequeath to Donna Todd my ability to mind my mother and stay in nights.

I, Jerry Kahle, do hereby will and bequeath to Jim West a microphone so he will not have to talk so loud in order that people can hear him.

I, Phyllis Johnson, do hereby will and bequeath to the brilliant chemist and orator, Patty Guard, an original composition to win the 1955 National American Legion Oratorical Contests.

I, Harlan Vail, do hereby will and bequeath to Junior Waltz an X-Ray machine of his very own.

I, Jerry Forrest, do hereby will and bequeath to Jerry McBee my ability to keep my head in ball games.

I, Don Krise, do hereby will and bequeath to Joe Guinn a Gene Autry cowboy suit and a complete album of Gene Autry records.

I, Martin Padgett, do hereby will and bequeath to Donna Todd my privilege to get out of school at noon.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to the Junior Class our ability to get along as a class.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to the fun loving Sophomores our ability to grow up.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to the Freshman Class some more girls so that there will be enough to go around.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mrs. Henriott, an automatic ticket puncher so she won't have to stand and punch tickets at lunch time.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. Beatty, a light for his hallway.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mrs. Wells, a co-operative Senior Class.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. Black, escalators from the basement stairs to the assembly room so he won't have to walk.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. Lyon, a larger Chemistry class.

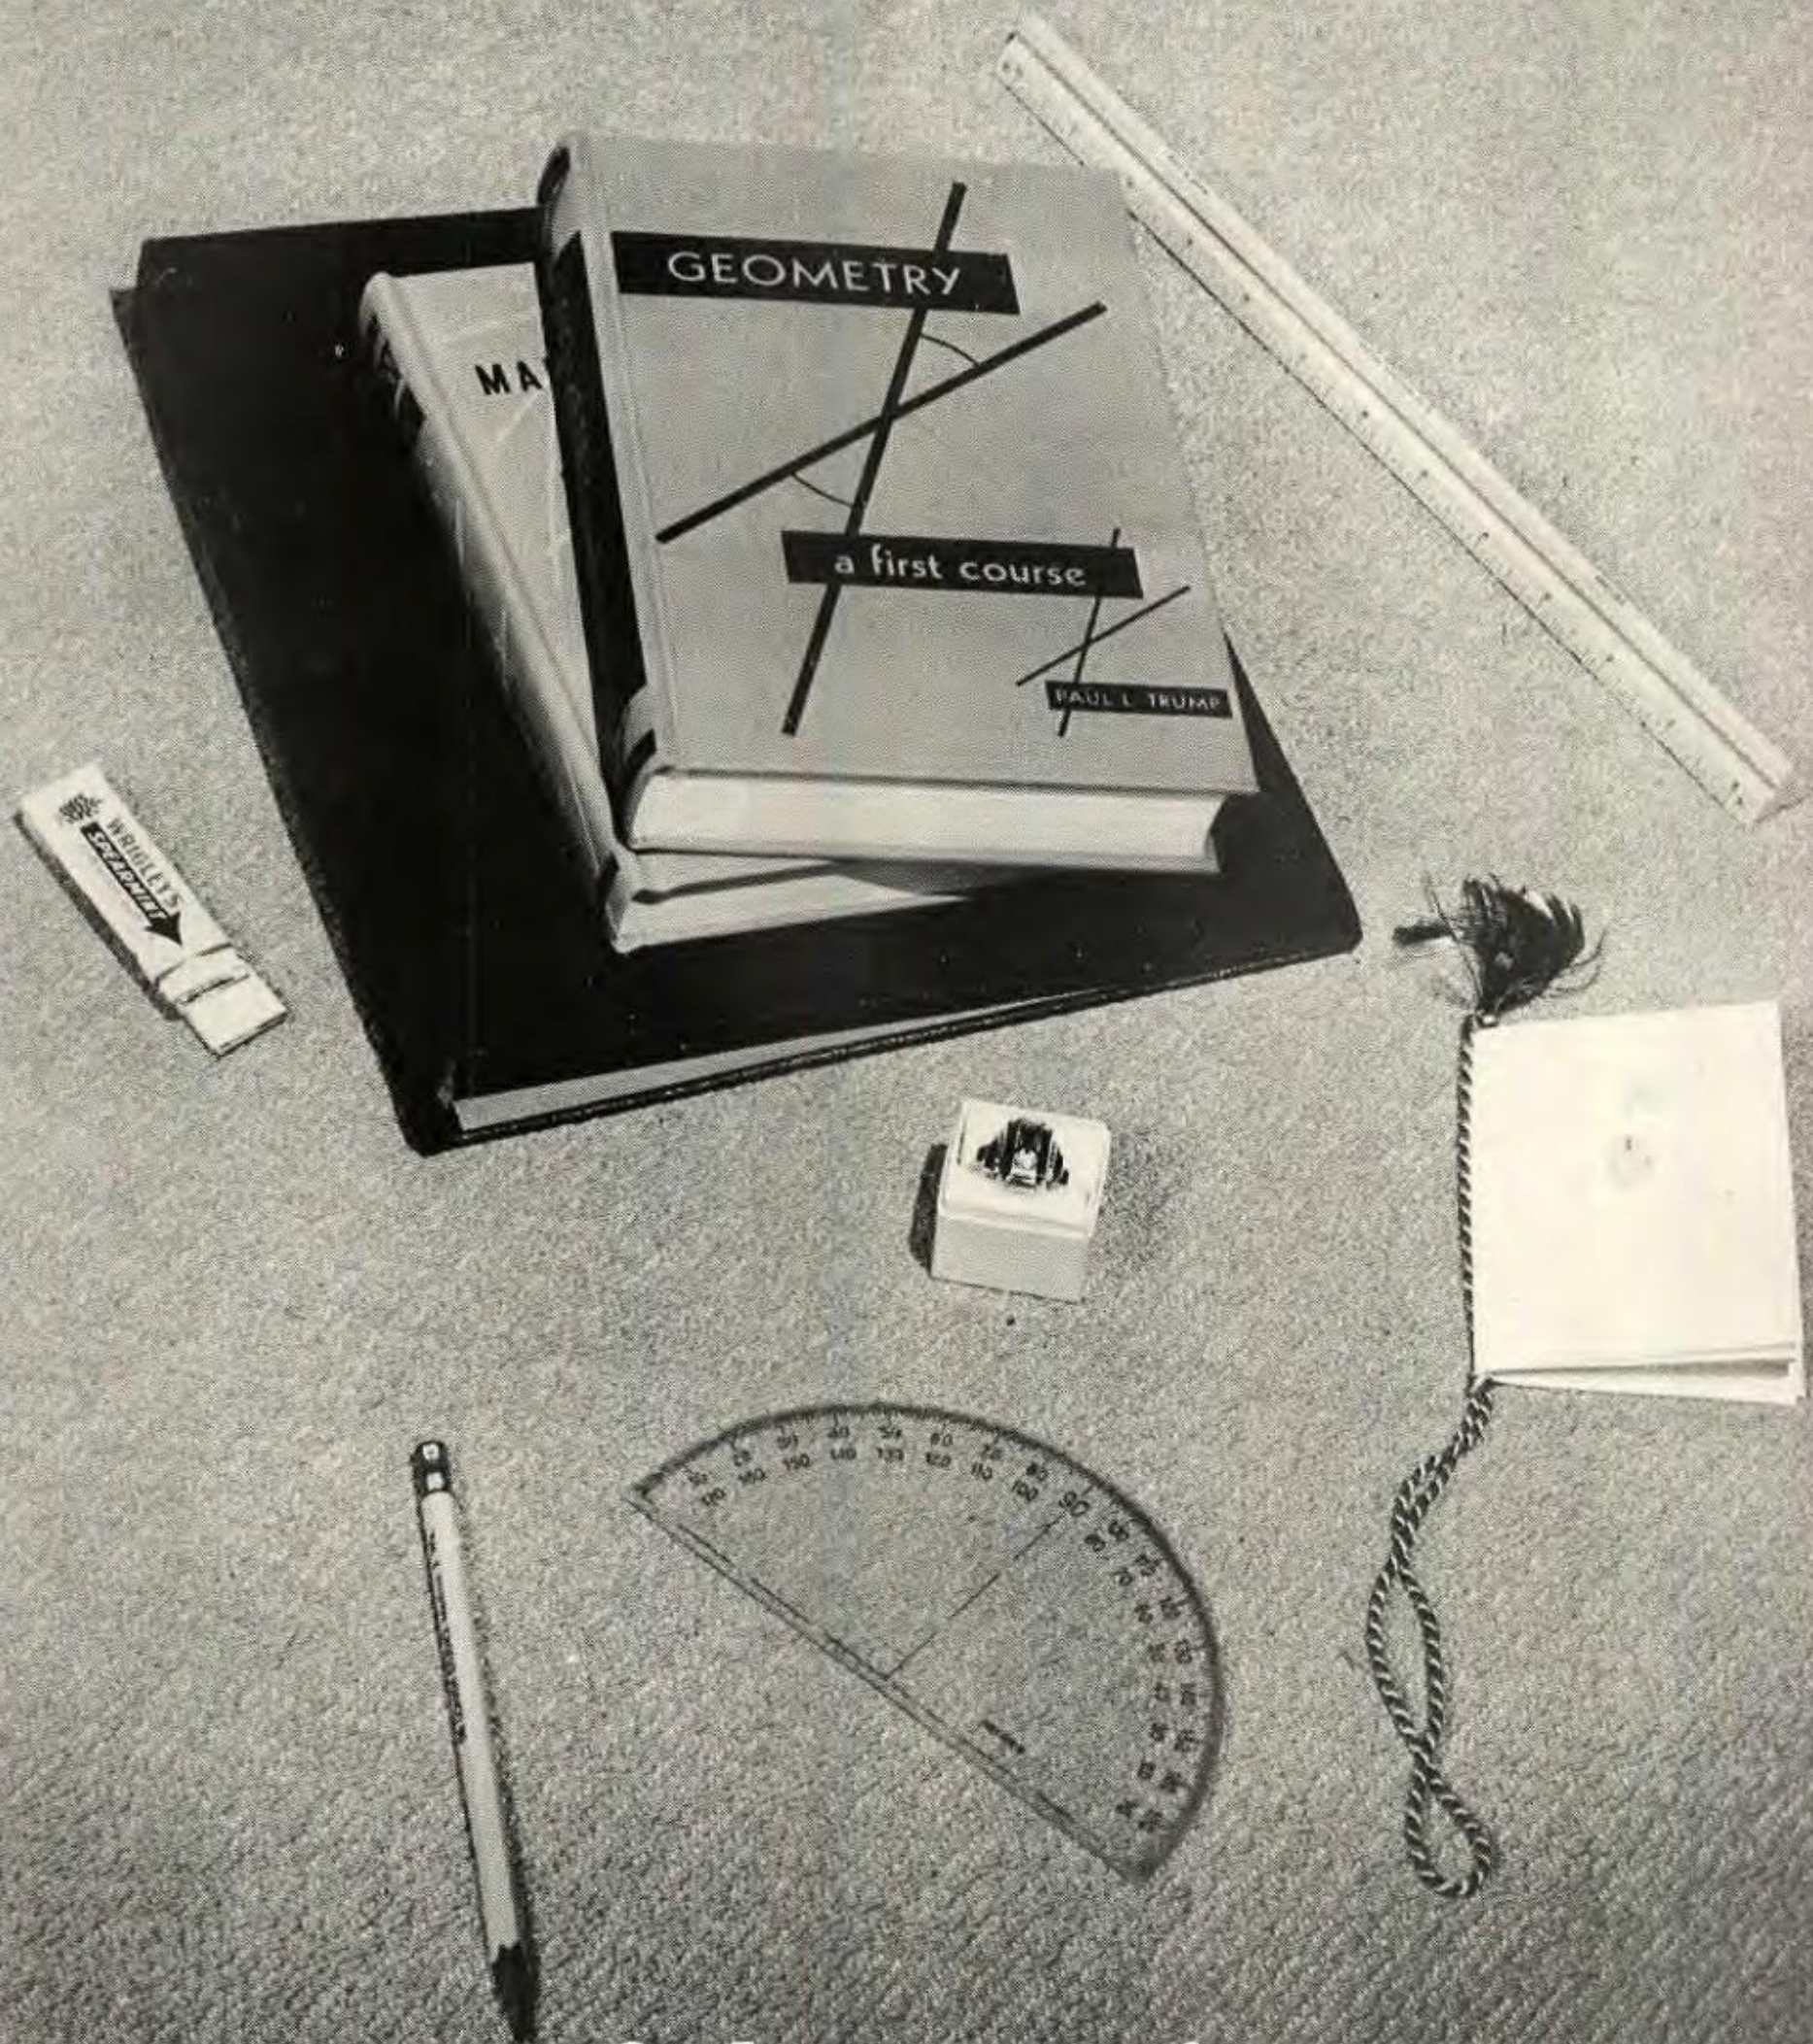

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. Mack, a lot of new automatically-tuned instruments.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. Bunton, a new group of Senior girls that will take the teasing that this year's Senior girls have.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Mr. VanPelt, a secretary so he will not have to peck on the typewriter when he wants to write a letter.

We, the Seniors, do hereby will and bequeath to Miss McNabb, a studious and hard-working class that will study for her.
